

targets BOOKMARK

These bookmarks are intended to create a simple and collaborative way to track with the children in your class whether they are making those small improvements that make the biggest differences.

These can be laminated and written on with whiteboard pens. The first template offers a target that can be coloured in when a child shows they're making progress towards a target. For example, each time a child that usually uses b and d the wrong way round, shows in a piece of writing they've used them accurately, you colour in a circle (ideally in coloured whiteboard pen). Once they've shown this four times, they've 'completed' the target and can be given a new one.

The second template is offers a blank version with no targets and just serves as a reminder of what you'd like the individual to work on.
