

Christmas Character Building

Cut the characters up then mix and match to create new Christmas characters! This can be done by pre-cutting them for your class, or allowing them to choose how to cut them up.

This is a silly activity for a bit of fun. Children can make their own character, or work as a team to build them.

Another option is everyone chooses a head for the character and sticks this down, then they pass the sheet around the group/table/class and someone then adds a body, then the next adds an arm and so on. Then you see what you end up with at the end!

Show the children this example!
